Overseer's Day.

Thirty-Five Road Supervisors Meet the Fiscal Court and Discuss Matters.

Saturday was the day the road overseers of the county were requested to meet with the fiscal court, and when the eight magistrates and county judges took there seats in the court house thirty-five good and earnest public road supervisors faced them and wondered what was wanted and what was to be done. Those present were

J. E. Stephenson, Hodge McConnell
T. F. Henry, Robert Pogue
L. C. Terry, C. E. Donecke
Jno. A. Wood, Machen Wilson
J. A. Rodgers, S. O. Leet
J. T. DeHaven, G. B. Lamb
S. E. Manus, H. D. Givens
R. H. Butler, Jno. Donecke
A. G. Thompson, B. G. Rushing
T. S. Martin, B. F. Fowler

After the object of the meeting had been explained, the overseer looked relieved, for some of them didn't know what they would be required to do over their own roads in a jolt wagon as a penance for any short coming in the way of road work that they might be charged with.

During the meeting many others came in, and it proved to be about as an enthusiastic meeting as one usually sees in the county.

In calling the meeting to order Judge Rochester said the object of the fiscal court in asking the road overseers of the county to meet it was to exchange ideas in reference to road-working, to learn from the overseers, if anything the court could do, under present system, which would be maintained, would add to the efficiency of the work, and for a general discussion of the subject that the overseers of the county might more fully realize the importance of their work, and appreciate their responsibility and the powers, under the law, they possess and were expected to exercise. The court and the overseers were or should be alike interested in getting the best roads possible for the labor and money expended. Roads must be worked, there was almost universal complaint, he said, and the people had been coming to him asking that overseers be fined, that realizing that the season had been such that it was impossible to keep the roads in anything like a fair condition, he had deferred issuing warrants to give them a fair chance, that he had no desire to fine an overseer, but hereafter the law would be enforced; that ample time would be given for doing the necessary work, and then there could be no such excuse as the "worst winter we ever had," and there would be no more leniency. Good public roads were a necessity for the people and they had made laws for keeping up the roads and that as an officer it was made his duty to enforce the law and he would do. He was opposed to taxing the people for road working, the work can be done under the present system just as satisfactory, if overseers and hands will do their duty, but if we continue to fail and neglect the roads, the system will be blamed and the tax idea would gain ground. We can avoid taxation by doing our duty, we can and will invite it by neglect under the present system. The judge thought the early spring was the time to do the most effective work, before the dirt became packed and ditching and necessary grading difficult.

After the judges remarks the overseers were asked to talk and quite a number responded.

J. E. Stevenson said more attention should be paid to drainage, the roads must be properly drained, or the work of the year would be carried away when the rainy season come.

The most industrious farmer in the neighborhood should be made overseer; some roads were bad because the overseers were men who didn't care whether their roads were worked or not. He said if some of the teams put on the road were paid according to work as usually done, they should not be paid over a dollar a day.

W. H. Hoover thought that when plows and team are needed, hands should be allowed to put them in on their time, counting a team one day worth a hand two.

John Conyers said he had but five hands, and if he had to ditch it, he would raise no crop this year, for he would turn the bed of the creek.

J. B. Carter—Our roads ought to be ditched, where it is practicable, for poor drainage is the greatest source of bad places in the road.

Rocking mud holes is a practice that should be abolished altogether. We had an overseer that made the hands do a full day's work before he got credit for a day. I learned this by experience, and while that man had his job, I didn't put in a pretty good day's work at home before going on the road but one time. His plan is a good one, and I recommend it to all overseers, if generally adopted and good judgment exercised by the overseer in directing the labor, our present system will be found satisfactory.

L. C. Terry wanted to know about the width of roads. Many roads are too narrow to be worked and drained properly.

Last fall he had drained the Perry lane road—usually the worst piece of road in the county during the winter—and had since been a good road, but there were other localities where there wasn't room for ditching. Road work should never be done later than Aug. 1. Never plow in center of road, leave it firm.

Judge Rochester said orders establishing road should designate its width.

They were usually 30 feet, but the orders might go from 16 to 60 feet.

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Scott, in a decision rendered at Richmond yesterday, declared the Kentucky vagrancy law unconstitutional. The provision for selling the labor of vagrants, he holds, is in violation of the Federal Constitution.

A. S. Hard wanted to know what the value of the labor on the road in each road precinct was; no one seemed to know, and he thought $25 was not too low and was getting ready for a big speech, when Mr. Stevenson rose and moved the court that the roads be turned over to Mr. Hard at the figures named, everybody seconded the motion, and Mr. Hard and his speech both took a seat.

Bob Pogue said he would be happy to shake the hand of the man who could keep up his road for $25. U. S. Graves said it would take from $500 up on his road.

T. L. Henry said the road-tax was a success in Union, his native county, the people there would not go back to the old system, and he thought that it might work in this county.

John Demaris said that an overseer should go over his road and map out his work before warning out his hands and know where and how to begin his hand.

Squire Hamilton explained some features of the law, and said if the six days were properly used the present system would be satisfactory.

Squire Robinson said that many of the roads were too narrow because the overseers had permitted the land owners to crowd in on the right of way. Squire Harping call attention to the law which provides that where "a corporation, or company by unusual use of a road, materially damages the same, shall repair all damages caused by the unusual use."

Doc Brown wanted to know what to do with the fellows who would not work when warned and wouldn't pay a fine. "They are the fellows," said Doc, "I want to know about," and when he was told that parties could be sent to jail to pay fines, Doc said: "all right," and you could see that Doc was going to have some work or fun. S. O. Leet wanted to know how he could make men work who come on the road, but refused to do anything after they got there. He was told to give them credit for the time they actually work, and keep their idleness charged up to their six days.

J. Frank Conger called attention to manner of ditching. He said don't cut ditches so deep that wagons can't run in them. Begin at outer edge of road, and come gradually higher to the center, don't plow out great ditches. The present system is all right if every man will put in his full six days.

A number of other gentlemen made brief talk and many questions asked about the law.

In the afternoon the magistrates convened and adopted an order providing that the overseers, when they worked out their hands, also notify them to provide themselves with the necessary tools for road work.

The number of overseers present, the overseer manifested and the talk of the overseers during and after the meeting shows that there is a deep interest in the road question and that there is going to be some effective work done on the public roads this year.

AMERICANS KILLED.

Insurgents Make a Stubborn Resistance But Finally Flee.

Washington, April 23.—According to dispatches received Col. John H. Stotsenburg, of the First Nebraska;

Lieut. Sisson and four men of the same regiment, and three men of the Fourth cavalry were killed, and forty one men and three officers were wounded in an engagement with the rebels at Quengua, north of Manila, yesterday. The rebels suffered small loss, but were finally routed and the town taken by the Americans. Col. Stotsenburg, whose home was in New Albany, was struck while charging at the head of his men, and fell within 200 yards of the enemy's trenches. The rebels were entrenched in horseshoe form. Capt. Bell and forty men of the Fourth cavalry first encountered them and were compelled to retreat, losing one killed and five wounded. A battalion of the First Nebraska joined the troopers, but this force was also checked. A third advance was led by Col. Stotsenburg, and was successful.

CAMPAIGNING

In the Philippines is a Crittenden Boy of Pluck.

He is Occasionally on the Firing Line, but between Shots Finds Many Things to Amuse Him.

ILOILO, P. I., March 5, '99.

Miss Sarah Tudor, Dear Sister:—When I last wrote we were on board the steamer St. Paul. I did not know where we were going, but three days later I knew. On the night of Feb. 18, we dropped anchor in the bay of Iloilo at 10 o'clock p.m.

The morning of the 11, the sun rose on one of the most beautiful sights I have ever been permitted to gaze upon. The beautiful city of Iloilo lay in the valley in front of us and back of the city were the beautiful coconut palms towering in the vicinity of the skies; the banana plants were thick in each back yard and back of this were the Panay mountains. There were no evidence of life in the city except the Philippine flag floating from the old fort, and occasionally a Philippine canoe would sail across the bay from point to point.

At nine o'clock Coioner Childress called me to the ship bridge to send a message to the Colonel of the 18th U. S. Infantry for General Murchison. We were on our boat. I had just finished flagging and turned my field glasses to the city when I saw a puff of smoke shoot out from the fort. The Filipinos had fired on the U. S. gun boat, Petrel; the Petrel returned the fire, aided by the cruiser, Boston, and the fort began to descend, ascend and go up and down, and every other old way. Pretty soon I saw a shell take off a sentry box and go on and set fire to the old customs house, and then as if by magic smoke and flames began to issue from all important houses in the city. The black smoke was good evidence that kerosene had been applied by the natives. At the end of the two hours the firing ceased and each of the three transports began to race to see which could land troops first. The St. Paul beat the other two and Company F, First Tennessee U. S. Infantry were the first American soldiers to go ashore at Iloilo.

The rebels did not make much of a fight; did not kill a single American, but our boys killed about 300 of the retreating negroes.

The number of insurgents here were estimated at 4000 armed with guns and 15,000 armed with long knives. These cowardly bushwhackers were vanquished and surrendered the city to about 15,000 Americans. The soldiers on this (Panay) island are the First Tennessee Infantry, the Eighteenth U. S. Infantry and Battery G., of the Third U. S. Light Artillery, commanded by Brigadier General Miles. Our outposts are in the suburbs of the city, and so far out that the line of sentinels is about eight miles long, this is one continuous firing line, and uses every soldier on the island every fourth day.

I returned to my company and told them there were Philippine soldiers out there that were nine feet high, and had cannons instead of guns. I learned from other scouts that there was only about fifty of them, and a few volleys from our Springfield's put them to flight.

We are quartered in a Spanish college that covers one and a half acres of ground, and is two story high.

All of the stone work in it is made from a kind of stone that they manufacture here. The building cost

There is some few cases of small pox in our regiment; one man in our company died a few days ago, also our chaplain died last week.

I am called an immune from having such a good vaccination mark on my arm,

We have all of the bananas we want here, and all that it takes to get them is the exertion of cutting them and carrying them to quarters where they will ripen in two or three

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce

a candidate to represent Crittenden and Livingston counties in the next General Assembly of Kentucky. His candidacy is subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1890.

Let us hope that there will not be another attempt to Somerize politics in Kentucky.

Probably if the President would give Aguinaldo a post-office, the muss would be stopped.

There is quite a crop of aspirants for Speaker Reed's place. The shoe the Czar wore is not likely to pinch his successors toes.

It is now thought that we will not get all of the Philippines killed this spring, but that a few will be left over for fall amusement.

Elizabethtown, Ill., elected a dry board last week by majorities ranging from 6 to 12 votes. After May 1, the town will be without saloons.

Col. Watterson is making nearly as much fun scrambling back into the Democratic party as he made in getting out. Col. Henri is a fussy man.—Murray Ledger.

Road meetings are getting to be as popular in this section in spring time as are barbecues in the fall, and will prove to be about as useful, if the good resolutions made are not carried out.

The South Kentuckian says Capt. Stone made many supporters by his speech at Hopkinsville Monday. His earnest, frank position on state, as well as national questions, warms the cockles of the heart of every Jackson Democrat, and wins, at least the admiration of the other folks.

Perry Belmont has written another letter to Mr. Bryan, in which he holds that international bimetallism is still possible, and denies ever advocating gold monometallism. If Perry keeps up this correspondence and continues to explain this way, he may get back into the party yet.

The Kentucky Distillery and Warehouse Syndicate is going to be real good. It has directed all of its officials and employees to let politics in all branches severally alone. If it will just join the church now, and attend the young peoples meeting regularly, all will be well.

Mr. Goebel visited the First district making a speech at Murray Monday. As Capt. Stone's opponents are determined to overrun his territory, Mr. Goebel should come to Marion and make a speech, and let the people see if he really has horns and hoofs, as some of his enemies claim.

Mr. Gen. Otis says the better class of the Filipinos are tired of war and desire peace. The "better class" referred to here is generally composed of those who have money and care little for liberty or the oppressed poor. The "better class" of Cubans didn't want the war with Spain; the "better class" of Americans were called tories and didn't want war with England, because their money gave them all the liberty they desired, and they did not want to jeopardize their commanding positions or their fortunes to assist humanity in its struggle for a liberty that is rarely appreciated by the very wealthy, because this class knows nothing of oppression. While we all struggle to gain wealth, it is a fact that the poor are the salt of the earth.

More blood has been spilled in Samos and the Germans are again blamed. A reconnoitering party from the British and American warships was ambushed by natives on a German plantation. Two American officers and two men were killed and five men wounded. One British officer and two men were killed. The killed were afterward decapitated by the rebels, and one of the wounded men was mutilated. A German is said to have instigated the attack, and is now imprisoned on a British man-of-war.

At Philadelphia Friday, Mathew Stanley Quay was declared by a jury of his peers to be not guilty of the charge of conspiring to use for his own unlawful gain and profit the funds of the State of Pennsylvania, deposited in the People's Bank, of this city. Shortly after the announcement of the verdict Gov. Stone appointed Mr. Quay as Senator until the next session of the Legislature.

The Board of Brevets and Medals has conferred medals of honor upon twenty-one soldiers for conspicuous bravery in the Santiago campaign. Certificates of merit to 189 men were also awarded, entitling the holders to $2 per month extra as long as they remain in the service.

The return of the volunteers from Manilla will begin May 5, and continue during June and July. They come home to avoid the sickly season, and the insurgents hope to profit by their withdrawal.

The Porto Rican Commissioners have petitioned for the withdrawal of military control of the island, and that the laws be administered by the civil authorities at Washington.

General Corbin, adjutant general of the army, has wired here that the Third Kentucky regiment will be mustered out May 16 at Savannah, Ga.

Thirty-one insurance companies doing business at Mt. Sterling have been indicted for violating the State anti-trust law.

The grand jury at Owensboro returned indictments against seventy-six fire insurance companies for conspiring to raise rates.

The negro regiments at Santiago are the only volunteers soldiers in Cuba.

A MAD MOB.

Awful Death of a Murder and Rapist in Georgia.

Newman, Ga., April 23.—In the presence of two thousand people who sent aloft yells of defiance, Sam Hose, the negro who murdered a farmer near Palmetto, ten days ago and criminally assaulted his victim's wife, was taken from the jail yesterday afternoon and burned at the stake. Before the torch was applied, his ears and fingers were cut off. After death his heart and liver and other parts of the body were removed and the remains cut to shreds. The negro confessed the murder, and said the crime had been committed for twelve dollars, naming a colored preacher as the man who paid him. The man, after finishing his work with Hose, captured the preacher, Elijah Strickland, and at midnight put him on trial for his life.

Palmetto, Ga., April 24.—The body of Lige Strickland, the negro preacher who was implicated in the Cranford murder by Sam Hose, was found swinging by the limb of a persimmon tree within a mile and a quarter of this place early today.

On the chest of the negro was a scrap of blood-stained note paper at which of his peers be not guilty of the charge of conspiring to use for his own unlawful gain and profit the funds of the State of Pennsylvania, deposited in the People's Bank, of this city. Shortly after the announcement of the verdict Gov. Stone appointed Mr. Quay as Senator until the next session of the Legislature.

Speaker Thomas B. Reed has become a member of a New York law firm and, it is understood, will resign his seat in Congress, and move to that city. Mr. Reed is now preparing a trip to Europe, and declines to discuss the rumor of his coming resignation. He is not in harmony with his party on expansion, and as he is getting along in years, and is not a wealthy man, it is surmised that he has given up all ambition to be president, and will go into the practice of law to make money.

Remembering Washington.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., April 20.—William Driver claims to be the oldest person in the United States. Driver was 134 years old his last birthday, and is in reasonable good health. He was a slave and says he remembers seeing George Washington several times.

That Throbbing Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by J. H. Orme, Druggist.

The seats in the parquet at the opera house will be reserved and sold at 10 cents, for the commencement exercises. This is done to pay for the use of the house. These are only a small per cent of the seats, however, and there will be no admission fee.

The negro regiments at Santiago are the only volunteers soldiers in Cuba.

Burned Out.

The many friends of Mr. D. H. Franks, former of this place, but now of Cripple Creek, Col., will regret the misfortune that comes to him on the 19th. His residence with all of the household goods was destroyed by fire. The clothing the family had on was all that was saved, except Miss Addie Franks' trunk.

A Striking Present.

Yesterday City Marshal Lyd received a handsome police billy with the compliments of his old friend, Billie Jones, of Princeton, Ind. Billie left here several years ago, but he has not forgotten his friends here as his "striking" present to the marshal will indicate.

Skipped Out.

The boys who were before the court last week charged with "shooting craps," were acquitted because they could not testify against each other. Horace Rondeau, who was charged with running a crap game, skipped out before the court could get the proper hold on him. The community is not very extensively impaired by Rondeau's absence, and if he will stay away for all time to come, his inde of settling the affair will be acceptable.

Restored to the List.

The happiest man in town Monday was Mr. R. N. Woodsides. In February 1894, he was dropped from the pension roll, and on Monday morning his attorney, Mr. H. A. Haynes, received notice from the department that Mr. Woodsides' name had been restored and that he would be paid from the time he was dropped. This gives him $360 to February 1894, and $6 per month afterwards.

Road Grader.

A road grader was put to work on a section of street Saturday, and attracted a big crowd. Eight horses were attached to it, and where there was no rock, it did fine work, and did it rapidly. As most of the streets in town need grading once a year, we believe the purchase of the grader by the city council would be a good investment. It is offered to the town for $110, and is said to be as good as new.

Parts Unknown

Recently at a meeting of the official members of one of our churches, the records caused some risibility at the expense of the clerk. Some years ago a lady member of the church moved away, and was lost sight of, and opposite her name on the record was written: "Gone to parts unknown." Later she came back, and just above her former record, the clerk wrote, "dead," and now according to that record that member is "dead," and "gone to parts unknown."

Soda Fountain

Dr. J. H. Orme has employed Mr. Fred Barnes to run his soda fountain this season. Fred has been at the business for five years, and is an expert in handling a fountain, and the customers of this popular fountain will find it always in good shape, and will find the best non-intoxicating drinks on earth during the hot season. Mr. Orme will also make and sell ice-cream this season, and the cream he sells at the counter or sends out to a customer will be the very best. Orders from any part of the city will be promptly filled and goods delivered. Order by telephone No. 4.

A Popular Democrat

One of the most popular young Democrats in the State is the Hon. Ollie James of Crittenden county. He is not only a power in the First Congressional district, but his influence and ability are recognized from one end of the State to the other. He has charge of Capt. Stone's canvas and is making a vigorous effort in his behalf. Mr. James is expected in Louisville the coming week to confer with the Democratic leaders on his side.

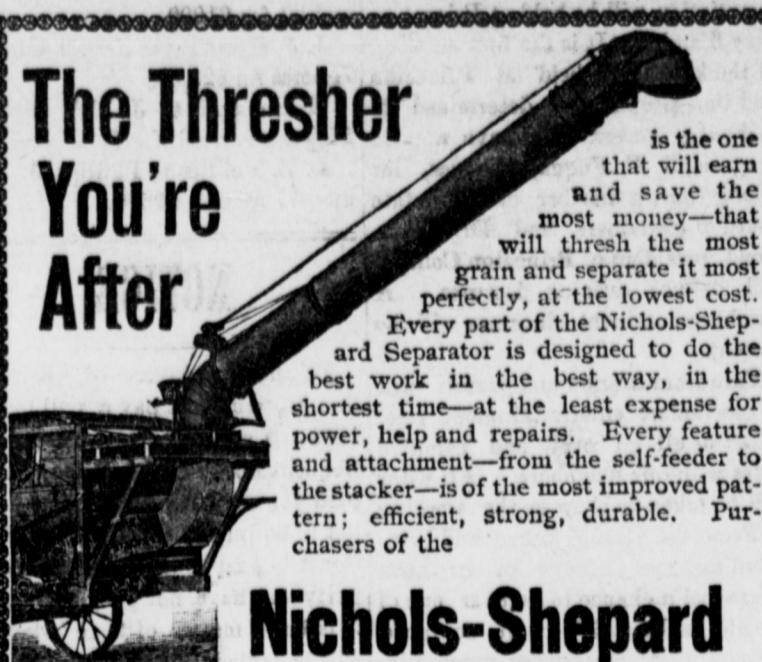

He will undoubtedly be the next congressman from his district. He is a recognized leader in the State, and is soul and body for Bryan, Blackburn and 16 to 1.—Louisville Dispatch.

Modoc Married

According to the announcement, Mr. S. A. Marks and Miss Ida Hambrick were united in marriage at the Methodist church in Tolu on Wednesday of last week. The church was filled with the friends of the couple, gathered to witness the consummation of the happy event, and it was a beautiful church wedding. Mr. Marks and his bonnie bride, have the best wishes of the entire community for their future happiness and prosperity, and the Press trusts that all of their fondest hopes will be realized.

HIGH PRICES PAID FOR Old Coins AND STAMPS.

There are thousands of people whose hobby is to collect old coins and stamps. Some date or kinds are easy to get but others are not so hard. High persons making collections gladly pay high prices for kinds of coins and stamps wanted. It often happens that coins that are hard to find in one part of the country are easily obtained in other places; you may find coins in your locality which are worth big premiums. In big cities there are regular dealers who buy such pieces and sell to collectors. These dealers pay big prices.

Our Coin and Stamp Value books tell you all about these; they contain more information than any other coin and stamp book of the kind ever issued. These pictures are of great value to all who are looking up the worth of any specimens. Save all the stamps you find on letters, you can get cash for them, even the common kinds.

Our Set of Coin and Stamp Books contain a complete list of 1200 varieties and dates of coins with prices paid for them; also value of old stamps. The books also tell of the firms to whom you may send your specimens. You may send 10 CENTS in stamps, you will receive the two books by mail. Address all orders to BOOK & NOVELTY CO., Marion, Ky.
